

Memory Loss with Mood or Behavior Concerns?

If you or your loved one is having memory loss and feeling sad, worried, or having behavioral concerns, UChicago Medicine has a program that can help!

Cognitive Impairment Collaborative Care

provides you with a behavioral health social worker (Carly Lusk, LCSW) who works with you, your caregiver, your doctor, and a psychiatrist to manage your mental health care. The social worker provides care management, consults with a psychiatrist, and provides brief therapy, if appropriate.

Interested in learning more?

Talk to your primary care physician or neurologist during your next office visit, send a MyChart message, or call the office to learn more about obtaining a referral to Cognitive Impairment Collaborative Care.

Insurance: All insurances are accepted. Cost-sharing is decided by your insurance. Aetna and UCHP have no copay.

AT THE FOREFRONT

UChicago Medicine