

Under-investment in military capacity by non-US NATO allies

Proliferation of house security systems

Increased spending on political campaigns

An extremist candidate winning a party primary because moderate voters (a majority) split their votes among several moderate candidates

Capital flight from a country because declining economy creates risk of revolution and expropriation of capital

Racial segregation of neighborhoods

Chicago Mayor Rahm Emanuel's proposal to raise property taxes only by half of what is needed to close pension gap

Underfunding of pledges for humanitarian assistance following natural disasters

Afghan Army and Afghan National Police lack of readiness for planned U.S. troop withdrawals

Hospitals' inability to share electronic records with one another