

Wittgenstein Workshop 2002-2003

Faculty Presentations

Avner Baz (Harper-Schmidt Fellow), “Seeing Aspects”

Alice Crary (New School University), “Wittgenstein and Ethics: A Discussion With Reference to On Certainty”

Cora Diamond (University of Virginia), “The Problem of Impiety”

Piergiorgio Donatelli (University of Rome), “Ethics in the Tractatus”

Gary Ebbs (Illinois), “Putnam and the Contextually A Priori”

Michael Kremer (Chicago), “Sense and Meaning: the Origins and Development of the Distinction”

Ray Monk (University of Southampton), “Wittgenstein on Imponderable Evidence”

Stephen Mulhall (Oxford, UK), “The Hidden Essence of Philosophy”

Warren Goldfarb (Harvard University), “Das Überwinden: Anti-Metaphysical Readings of the Tractatus”

Sebastian Roedl (Universität Leipzig), “Forms of Temporal Unity”

Barry Stroud (University of California, Berkeley), “Wittgenstein on Understanding Thought and Meaning from Outside”

Bill Tait (Chicago), “Frege’s Three Principles”

Charles Travis (Northwestern University), “Wittgenstein on Occasion-Sensitivity”

Maura Tumulty (Johns Hopkins), “Distinguishing Loquacity from Understanding: Illusions of Sense and the Execution of the Insane”

Michael Williams (Johns Hopkins), “Facts, Truth, and Certainty”

Ed Witherspoon (Colgate University), “Wittgenstein on Solitude and Privacy”

Dan Zahavi (University of Copenhagen, Denmark), “Inner-time consciousness and pre-reflective self-awareness”

Graduate Students Presentations

Zed Adams, “Is Wittgenstein a Moral Realist?”

Jay Elliott, “Logically Alien Thought”\

Nat Hansen, “McDowell’s Wittgenstein”

Akinori Hayashi, “Frege’s Context Principle”\

Erica Holberg, “The Importance of Literature: Wittgensteinian Approaches to Ethics”

Thomas Lockhart, “Malcolm on the Opening of the Investigations”

Joshua Schwartz, “Rush Rhees on Language Game (2)”

Dan Wack, “Generic Resemblance”